

Internet Explorer

Button Bar - is provided to give you quick and easy access to functions you will be using frequently.

- Back - takes you page by page back through the pages you have surfed - the little black down arrow drops down a list of the pages you have visited so you can browse back several pages at a time.
- Forward - takes you forward in the same manner as Back moves you. It also has a drop down arrow menu so you can move several pages at time.
- Stop - The Red X stops pages from loading.
- Refresh - Pages change frequently, and Internet Explorer caches pages you visited...so it's a wise idea to refresh pages frequently to make sure you are seeing current information.

Address Bar - is where you enter the URL [we discussed this previously] to get to the page you want to visit. This bar also has a drop down function and saves the history of web site addresses you have typed in.
